

Survey on Networks related to Teaching Quality

This survey is being conducted by Education International (EI) on behalf of the Global Network for Teaching Quality and Effectiveness. The Global Network is network of networks that seeks to bring together education leaders, educators and policy makers to facilitate communication across national boundaries on policies and practices related to teaching quality. For more information, kindly visit www.ei-ie.org/globalnetwork.

The purpose of this survey is to identify any existing networks within your country or region that promote teaching quality or bring together teachers/educators to share their practice and operate internationally.

All identified networks will be featured on the site of the Global Network, and will be invited to take part in any future global or regional Network Conferences.

We kindly request that you send us the completed survey via email to:
Harold Tor, Education & Employment Coordinator (harold.tor@ei-ie.org)
